ACTUAL REVOLT IN GRECIAN NAVY.

Officers Seize and Occupy Salamis Arsenal.

Leader Proclaimed a Traitor, and Arrest Ordered.

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 29.—An actual revolt in the navy has taken place, and the situation is acute. The band of naval officers which Wednesday quitted the capital and withdrew to Salamis, an island ten miles to the west, today seized the arsenal there and are now entrenched. They met no opposition. The rebels are led by Officer Tibaldos, and are reported to number 300 men. The government has proclaimed Tibaldos a traitor, and ordered his arrest by the military.

The Greek fleet is anchored at Keratsini, on the further side of the island of Salamis, and has not had time to declare which side it will take. Many of the junior officers in Athens disavow a revolt, but great excitement prevails in this city and the ministry of marine is guarded by troops.

Lieutenant Tibaldos, who heads the revolt, is the commander of a flotilla of torpedo boats and submarines. It appears that he demands that he be appointed minister of marine. He threatens that if the appointment is not made he will overthrow the government and establish a dictatorship. If Tibaldos succeeds in winning over the fleet, as it is rumored he will, it is feared that he will be in a position to carry out his threats. Meanwhile an element in the Military League, which is opposed to the revolt, has issued a proclamation denouncing Tibaldos as a traitor, who broke his oath to the league.

This afternoon a remnant of infantry and a battery of field guns were sent to Skaramanga, on the coast, a few miles west of Athens and opposite Peros, the point on the island of Salamis where Tibaldos's men are entrenched. It is now said that Tibaldos has secured the support of the entire torpedo flotilla of eight ships, and threatens to employ these in sinking the rest of the fleet. As Tibaldos holds the arsenal and ammunition depots, the vessels in the possession of the government are without ammunition and have not been mobilized. It is feared that these still loyal ships may join the revolt, particularly since the Military League is now hostile to the revolt in the navy.

The cause of the naval revolt in Greece is probably to be found in the recent failure of the Greek cause in Crete, when the power, on Turkey's protest, removed a Hellenic flag which had been hoisted at Canea. This failure to secure Crete was popularly blamed to governmental inefficiency, and as a result several weeks ago two battalions of troops in Athens mutinied. Refusing to the suburbs, they demanded the surrender of the high places held in the army by Crown Prince Constantine, commander-in-chief of the Greek army; Prince Andrew, a captain of cavalry, and Prince Christopher, a sub-lieutenant in the infantry. The Military League October 16 forced the Chamber of Deputies to vote a measure abolishing the right of the crown prince to hold the post of commander-in-chief, and of the other princes to hold military commands. Earlier in the day King George had persuaded his sons, Princes Constantine, George, Nicholas and Christopher, to resign their commissions in the military.

On the passage of the military bills in the Chamber of Deputies 30 loyalist members showed their disapproval by withdrawing from the chamber. These loyalists insisted that the Military League was determined to force the king to abdicate. Others thought the crisis had passed by the retirement of the princes, but was likely to arise again through the Cretans returning deputies to the chamber at the next election.

The Military League, however, was not satisfied with humiliation of the royal family, and last Wednesday issued an ultimatum demanding the enactment within 24 hours of an ordinance suspending all promotions for five years, the abolition of the post of rear admiral, heretofore held by Prince George, together with two vice admiralships, and 15 positions of lesser rank. The premier offered a compromise in the form of a bill altering the age limit for superannuation from 65 years to 58 years. This was not satisfactory to the league, and Wednesday night 30 naval officers retired to the island of Salamis, on which an arsenal is situated. Today, these officers with certain recruits, seized the arsenal in open revolt.

MISSISSIPPI TRIP MAKES FOR GOOD.

A Long Fight, but Country Will be Convinced.

Taft, Behind Time, to Enter New Orleans on Arrival.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Oct. 29.—Not since the day battleship Mississippi visited Natchez and won the river speed record from this city to New Orleans have there been such crowds on the bluff as those which greeted President Taft on his arrival here this morning, on board lighthouse tender Oleander, at 9:45 o'clock, nearly three hours behind time.

Mr. Taft arrived at Vicksburg last night at 9:40, and of the fleet which pointed their prows out of St. Louis at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon only two were in sight when President Taft landed and gave himself into the hands of an enthusiastic, but sadly disappointed, local committee, receiving a joyous welcome from several hundred faithful watchers at the waterfront.

The members of the cabinet arrived with the President by abandoning their own boat. The St. Paul, which started out with half the governors of the United States on board, and the Quincy, which started with Speaker Cannon and a large array of Senators and Representatives as passengers, were among the slower vessels nowhere to be seen during the President's stay in Vicksburg.

The schedule of the river trip has gone all to pieces. In making up the schedule it is said that the maximum speed of the fast boats and the slow boats were added together and an average speed struck for all. This was all right for the fast ones, but how the slow ones were expected to keep up is a mystery that rivermen say they are unable to solve.

Governors Noel of Mississippi and Sanders of Louisiana were taken on board the Oleander in order that they might be with the President at his stops in those states.

The people of Vicksburg, one of the great strongholds of the Confederacy, made great plans for entertaining the President, who made a speech in which he expressed his deep regret and chagrin that the schedule of the river had gone so far away as to cut short his visit to Vicksburg.

In his speech President Taft had a little fun with the Congressmen on the river trip, and on board whose steamer, it is said, nine poker tables were provided. Addressing the presiding officer of the Elks Club, the President said:

"You have intimated that somebody said the trip was a junket. Well, that depends upon what you mean by a junket. If it is to be defined as the man defined his pleasure when he did not take his wife with him, it is a junket. If it means a journey full of pleasure and with no work and no effort in it, then I deny that it is a junket.

"If you had seen the efforts made at oratory on board the Congressional steamer as it came down the river you would understand that they were still practicing their profession. If you had attended the meeting of the governors and heard their innocent investigation into what is meant by that phrase which rolls off our tongue with so much ease—the conservation of our natural resources—you could understand that the governors were pursuing their constitutional duty on board that vessel which comes with due slowness down the river; and if you had taken passage in these narrow bunks, which can be compared only to that permanent resting place towards which we are moving with so much reluctance, you would understand that no one would have sought that means of passing the night unless it was in the earnest discharge of duty, and you could understand, Sir, the motive which prompted a number of the Congressional party to that study of human nature in which we learn so much of the lineaments of the human countenance, and how they may be framed to deceive the pictures which are presented to the eyes.

"Therefore, I deny that this is a junket. It never is a junket where the winners have gone home and the losers are getting even.

"I would not have you think—those of you whose experience fits you to fully interpret the meaning of my remarks—that our eyes, in going down the river, have not been properly directed to the waterway before us, under us and back of us, and to the shores on each side. In the study of the very difficult question which presents itself as to the improvement of this river. There are those of us who are convinced beyond any change at all as to what ought to be done. There are those of us who are most willing to be convinced, and yet are still somewhat doubtful as to the method which ought to be pursued as to the policy which should be undertaken in improving this waterway.

"That it ought to be improved I think most of those on this trip sincerely believe, but the question of what shall be done to make it most useful to serve the purpose which we all have in mind is one which I wish I could have as clear in my mind as those gentlemen whose guests we are—I mean the very energetic Waterways Association of St. Louis. I would not say anything that would discourage them in their highest aspirations.

"I am sure that the effect of this trip makes for good in the right direction and in the development of their river, but there is a long fight ahead, and the enthusiasm of the people of the states in the valley, does not accomplish the improvement or bring it about in the way in which ultimately it will come. It has to be threshed out in Congress and throughout the country, and the country has to be shown that in expending the $200,000,000 it will probably take, that $200,000,000 will be well spent.

"Now I have no doubt that ultimately the country will be convinced, as the details are worked out and the demonstration is made, but I would for the moment put a brake on the expectancy of the immediate conviction of everybody. I think I occupy, myself, a judicial position in regard to it, and I want to believe, and I want to find the way to make this river accomplish all that my friends would wish it to accomplish.

"Now $20,000,000 seems on the one hand, to a man who is administering

SHENANDOAH SUNK BY POWHATTAN.

Barge Struck Amidships and Steamer Damaged.

Engineer Drowned, and Passengers Panic Stricken.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., Oct. 29.—In the sinking of barge Shenandoah, off the Shoveful lightship on Nantucket shoals, through a collision with steamer Powhattan, bound from Boston to Baltimore with 25 passengers and a heavy cargo of freight, at 12:30 a. m. today, the engineer of the barge was drowned and three others were hauled on board the Powhattan with difficulty. The steamer reached here at 8 a. m. with an injured bow, but not leaking. There was great excitement on the Powhattan after collision, and several women passengers suffered from hysteria. The Powhattan will make temporary repairs here and will proceed tonight.

The scene of the collision was in the narrow channel which winds over Nantucket shoals from the Handkerchief lightship to the open sea off Cape Cod. Hundreds of vessels have come together in this channel, the last noteworthy wreck being the sinking of steamer Horatio Hall by steamer H. F. Dimock last March.

The Shenondoah was the stern barge in a tow of three which tug International took out of Philadelphia Monday. The Shenondoah was bound to Portland with 1,400 tons of coal, while the other barges, the Lincoln and the Paxtang, had been ordered to Gloucester and Boston, respectively. Both tug and barges belong to the Philadelphia & Reading Coal Company, while steamer Powhattan is owned by the Merchants & Miners' Steamship Company.

The night was clear, with a bright moon, which the steamer from the northward and the tug and barges from the southward entered the narrow and tortuous channel. The International had swung her tow round the Shoveful turn, and was heading over toward Pollock Rip when the Powhattan came up from the eastward. There was a strong northwest wind, and the tow was swung round farther to the southward than was anticipated and the Powhatan, after narrowly clearing the Lincoln and the Paxtang, suddenly found the Shendoah right ahead. The steamer's wheel was put hard over, but it did not prevent a collision, and the Shenandoah was struck amidships on the starboard side, and sank in five minutes.

Lines were thrown on board the barge as she was settling, and her captain and two other men were hauled over the side of the steamer before the Shenandoah disappeared. The big searchlight on the Powhattan was switched onto the scene and revealed the engineer and the only other members of the crew in the little boat of the barge. The engineer shouted several times that he was all right, but that did not delay the launching of one of the Powhattan's starboard lifeboats. Before the craft reached the engineer, however, a big wave threw the little boat over and he disappeared. The lifeboats searched the vicinity for nearly an hour without finding any trace of the man, whose name could not be recalled by the captain and members of the crew of the Shenandoah.

In the meantime there was a small sized panic on board the Powhattan. Men and women were nearly thrown from their bunks by the force of the collision, and, with the recollection of experiences on the Republic and the Horatio Hall vividly in their minds, they rushed out on deck, many of them clothed only in the blankets which they had snatched from their berths.

IN EVERY WAY SUCCESSFUL.

North Dakota Attains Over 19 Knots on Shaking-down Trial.

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—The shaking-down trial of the second American Dreadnought, the North Dakota, off Cape Cod yesterday was in every way successful, according to the statement today of her builders, the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, and the officials of that yard are looking confidently to exceeding the governmental requirements of 21 knots an hour in the official speed trials off Rockland next week.

The big battleship was successfully docked at the navy yard shortly after noon, and on coming ashore the Fore River officials stated that in the trial runs off the Cape yesterday a speed of more than 19 knots had been attained, and that the turbine engines whirled the screws at a speed of 252 revolutions a minute. No horse-power data was given out, but it was reported that well up to 30,000 was developed.

The North Dakota will be groomed in every way during her two days in the naval drydock, and it is expected she will leave here Monday forenoon for Penobscot bay.

According to the officials, green hands stoked the engines during the trial yesterday, but it is hoped to take on some of the firemen from other warships at the navy yard.

EVERYTHING QUIET AT LUDLOW.

Employes Paid, and Special Police on Hand to Prevent Disorder.

LUDLOW, Mass., Oct. 29.—Some 3,500 operatives of the mills of the Ludlow Manufacturing Associates, which are now closed down by a strike, were paid off today. Although it had been feared that serious disorders might accompany the paying of the striking employes, everything was quiet in the town during the forenoon. Special police were on duty to suppress any disorders which might arise.

The strikers held meetings during the day, at which the industrial situation was discussed, and other meetings will be held tonight.

No attempts were made to operate the mills today, but it is understood that the management will try to open the factory Monday.

IF DECISION IS ADVERSE.

Gompers and Co-Defendants Will Appeal to Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, who were sentenced by Justice Wright to jail terms of twelve, nine and six months respectively, for contempt in the now famous injunction proceedings of the Buck Stove & Range Company of St. Louis, will take an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, in the event that the district court of appeals sustains the action of the court which imposed sentence on them. President Gompers of the Federation, in an editorial in the November issue of the American Federationist, makes clear the attitude of himself and his co-defendants, and what course will be pursued following an adverse decision of the appellate court.

TO FIGHT THE HOOK WORM.

Rockefeller Gives $1,000,000 and Organizes a Commission.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—John D. Rockefeller has opened war on the "lazy bug" in the South, a gift of $1,000,000 to fight the "hook worm disease" and the organization of a commission to carry on the work being announced today. The Oil King is said to have had the matter under consideration some tim, but his plans did not take definite form until last Tuesday, when a dozen well known educators and scientists, selected in large part from institutions of learning in the South, where the parasite is prevalent, were called in conference at the Standard Oil Company's offices, by Mr. Rockefeller's representatives. Mr. Rockefeller's desire to back a campaign against the malady and his wish to have a commission organized were thoroughly discussed. It was agreed that the situation is serious and one which calls for an immediate remedy.

As a result of the discussion the "Rockefeller Commission for the Eradication of the Hook Worm Disease" came into existence, and public notice of the fact was given out at the Standard Oil Company's office today. The members of the commission, as selected by Mr. Rockefeller, are:

Dr. William H. Welch, professor of pathology in Johns Hopkins University, president of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Simon Flexner, director of Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research.

Dr. Charles W. Stiles, chief of the division of zoology, United States Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, and discoverer of the American species of hook worm and the prevalence of the disease in America.

Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the University of Virginia.

Dr. David F. Houston, chancellor of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Professor P. P. Claxton, professor of Education in the University of Tennessee.

J. Y. Joyner, state superintendent of education in North Carolina, and president of the National Educational Association.

Dr. H. B. Frissell, principal Hampton Institute.

Frederick T. Gates, one of Mr. Rockefeller's business managers.

Starr J. Murphy, Mr. Rockefeller's counsel in benevolent matters.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

All but Professor Claxton and Mr. Joyner were at the meeting Tuesday, and they have both accepted places on the board selected to carry out Mr. Rockefeller's plans.

In calling these men together for Tuesday's conference Mr. Rockefeller addressed to each a letter reciting his interest in relieving the suffering caused by the "hook worm" parasite, especially because, he said, it had been his pleasure to spend a portion of each year among the warm-hearted people of the South. He welcomed the opportunity, he wrote, to express appreciation of their many kindnesses and hospitalities.

The letters of the commission in framing a reply to Mr. Rockefeller's offer of $1,000,000 declared that the proposition met their heartiest approbation. "Two millions of our people are infected with this parasite," they added. "It is by no means confined to one class, it takes its toll of suffering and death from the intelligent and well-to-do as well as from the less fortunate."

The "hook worm," according to New York medical authorities, is a hair-like parasite to which is due a form of anemia prevalent especially among the poor of the South. It was not until recent years that members of the medical profession discovered that a parasite caused the malady. In December, 1902, Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles, then a zoologist in the bureau of animal industry at Washington, who had been studying intestinal parasites, announced to the Pan-American Sanitary Congress his conviction that the so-called "laziness" and "shiftlessness" widely observed in certain portions of the South was a specific disease, due to the "hook worm." Many members of the congress expressed surprise at the announcement and up to the present the disease has been a matter of some controversy.

QUEEN ENDORSES COOK.

Explorer Charges Corruption of Mount McKinley Guides.

HAMILTON, Mont., Oct. 28.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook received here tonight, in the home city of Edward N. Barrill, the only man who was with him at Mount McKinley, a message in which Queen Alexandra of Great Britain sent her greetings and expressed absolute confidence in his polar achievement.

The explorer, in a public address, denounced the tactics of his defamers as unfair, and defended his contention that he ascended Mount McKinley. He said that money was used corruptly in obtaining affidavits against him. Barrill has said, in a sworn statement, that Cook's claim of scaling the peak is false.

At the conclusion of Dr. Cook's address counsel for Barrill and Printz, the guides, rose and questioned the explorer's declaration that he reached the top of Mt. McKinley. A resolution was offered criticising Dr. Cook and defending the two guides, Barrill and Printz, and it was adopted after a hot debate lasting until nearly midnight.

Barrill was brought to the platform during the excitement and said a few words in such a low tone that he could not be heard by the audience. Dr. Cook repeated his declaration that he scaled the Alaskan peak and said he would sign an affidavit to that effect.

Dr. Cook tonight was enthusiastically received and his address generously applauded. He thanked his large audience for its reception and assured his hearers he would go up the mountain again and obtain proofs that he had made the first ascent.

The endorsement of Queen Alexandra was conveyed to Dr. Cook through Dr. Maurice Francis Egan, American minister to Denmark. Dr. Egan's letter, which is dated October 7, says:

"On Sunday night last at the King's dinner at Charlottelund Her Gracious Majesty, the Queen of England, was kind enough to talk a long time to me, and you were the principal subject of our conversation. She is almost as ardent a Cookite as my daughter, Carmel, or the Countess Holstein-Ledreborg. She said: 'When Lieutenant Shackleton comes on Saturday I shall endeavored to convert him, if he is not already converted.'"

Dr. Cook cabled Dr. Egan as follows: "Many thanks letter. Appreciate kind words Her Majesty of England."

At the conclusion of his story of the attainment of the North Pole in his lecture tonight Dr. Cook took up briefly the controversy regarding his ascent of Mount McKinley. He prefaced his remarks with this statement:

"My veracity has been attacked by men residing in this community. They have fallen into evil hands and the temptation was too great. They have sold their birthright for silver, and there probably was more than 30 pieces. I am here to give my version of the Mount McKinley controversy and then leave my case in the hands of an honest body, the people of the great state of Montana. I will accept their verdict.

"At the time of my arrival in New York after two years and three months in the Arctic regions, and when all America was rejoicing over the double discovery of the North Pole, there began a warfare to rob me of the glory of an achievement which was, and is, rightly mine. Confident that my rival had triumphed after nearly a quarter of a century in quest of the great unknown, I, with all good Americans, rejoiced in his success, and in Copenhagen I declared there was glory enough for two. Despite the bitter attacks which have been made upon me, my attitude in this respect is unchanged.

"When this warfare failed, the enemy began this flank movement on the climb of Mount McKinley; men with money to burn in the flame of infamy entered the arena. Men of this community whom I had previously believed honest fell as victims. Their statements were absolutely untrue. Still, I nurse no spirit of revenge or malice against these misguided men. My counsel, however, has been instructed to continue the investigation until we catch the money-givers higher up.

"For the present, I am willing to trust my case to the citizens of Montana as a jury. After you have read the mass of testimony my counsel has collected, I am ready to abide by your verdict. Then, with a new expedition to Mount McKinley, I will guarantee our future possession. My records are on the summit of the Alaskan peak, and, accompanied by unbiased, fair-minded men, I pledge you my word that I will again reach the top of the mountain and bring back this unquestionable proof of the success of my former expedition."

KOREANS APPROVE ITO MURDER.

Japanese Resident General Disturbed by Insurrection Rumors.

SEOUL, Korea, Oct. 28.—It is evident from the attitude of a considerable section of the Korean population that the assassination of Prince Ito is approved. Those comprising this section represent the element which is now deprived of opportunities formerly offered here, and they are agitating for further violence.

Viscount Sone, the Japanese resident general in Korea, is much disturbed by the reports coming in regarding the attitude of some of the officials and others who were formerly closely connected with the court of the emperor.

It is now believed that the entire plot was hatched in Seoul and the closest investigation is proceeding to discover the instigators of Prince Ito's murder. It is said that there is reason to believe that several prominent Koreans, while not actually privy to the assassination, lent themselves to a secret agitation and encouraged the people, in general, in the opinion that the sympathy of foreign countries would be shown them if the situation were forcibly brought to their attention.

It is now known that secret societies existed to spread the propaganda that Prince Ito's outward friendship for Koren was merely a blind. The report also was widely circulated that Japan proposed to confiscate the property of all Koreans, depose the emperor and drive the people into the sea.

The palace of the resident general is strongly guarded day and night. A decided feeling of unrest pervades Korea, and it is feared that the assassination will be followed up by an active movement looking to a general uprising in the hope of intercession by the United States or some other power to prevent further absorption in Korea by Japan.

The 10 Koreans arrested at Harbin will be rigorously examined, with a view to discovering the instigators of the plot, of whom it is believed the assassin was merely the tool. Detectives engaged in the case are using their utmost energies and there is reason to believe that there will be important developments in the near future.

It can be confidently stated, however, that the best element among the Koreans and a vast majority of the people are still loyal to the memory of Prince Ito, and it is not considered possible that the agitation would be successful in upsetting the country to any great extent, especially in view of Japan's announced intention not to change the policies promulgated by Ito.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

It is reported that the large barn on the Smith farm, recently sold to the Coal Mine company, is to be made a lodging house for the help.

In the last shift of conductors and motormen on the Newport & Fall River road there have been many changes.

Six or seven freight cars loaded with coal from the Portsmouth mines have been sent to Boston.

Miss Jennie Hallett of Boston is visiting her cousin, Miss Mary Willett.

Small boys were out Wednesday evening in Newtown village, ringing door bells and doing mischief.

Mr. John Murphy of Fall River will spend the winter in Portsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peirce of Brookline have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Almy, on Union street.

Mr. John Hathaway is quite ill.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Newport Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Newport testimony:

John L. Cookingham, 20 Poplar Street, Newport, R. I., says: "I was greatly benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Hay's Drug Store and can therefore recommend them. I suffered almost constantly for two years from kidney complaint and rheumatism. There were such terrible pains in my back at times that I could scarcely turn over in bed and many nights I could not sleep at all. Rheumatism made its appearance in my right limb and gradually extended into my arms and shoulders. Doan's Kidney Pills went directly to the seat of my trouble and brought me entire relief."

BIG VICTORY FOR UNIONISTS.

Militant Women Overjoyed at "Most Effective Blow" Yet Struck.

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Unionists today won a sweeping victory in the bye-election in the Bermondsey division of Southwark, which was admittedly a test of the sentiment of the country on the budget question, and acid-throwing suffragettes nearly carried out a plan to nullify the election by destroying the ballots.

The opponents of the budget are celebrating tonight with great enthusiasm their victory over the prime minister and the militant women are overjoyed at what some of their leaders call "the most effective blow" yet struck in their struggle for "votes for women."

John Dumphreys, Unionist, won the three-cornered fight with a plurality of 957, overcoming the Liberal majority of 1,759 in 1906. The vote was as follows: Dumphreys, 4,278; S. L. Hughes, Liberal, 3,291; Dr. A. Salter, Socialist, 1,435.

Bermondsey division is a parliamentary borough of London, and it was agreed that the election would afford not only a good test of the political feeling in the capitol, but also that of the country generally on the impending struggle in Parliament.

The whole United Kingdom was watching the outcome of the election with an interest [illegible] before concentrated on a contest of the kind, and the women therefore achieved their purpose in making their attack talked about the length and breadth of the country.

Bermondsey has been a doubtful constituency for years, sometimes returning a Liberal candidate and sometimes a Unionist, but three years ago the election resulted in a Liberal landslide. For the past few weeks, a strong fight has been waged in this constituency by the representatives of the three parties, but it finally resolved itself into a question of the budget against tariff reform, and, whatever the outcome might be, it was looked upon as forecasting the result of a general election should that be held.

AGONIZING ITCHING
UNTIL CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scurfy skin on my ankles, feet, arms and scalp. Scratching made it worse. Thousands of small red pimples formed and these caused intense itching. I was advised to go to the hospital for diseases of the skin. I did so, the chief surgeon saying: 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. After suffering agonies for twelve months, I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment. I continued its use, combined with Cuticura Soap and Pills, and I was completely cured. Henry Searle, Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8 and 10, 1907."

The Men Who Pay the Bills

All praise the coal economy of the Magee Range. The fact that the heated gases from the fire-box must pass about the oven by the longest possible road before reaching the chimney gives the Magee the greatest cooking capacity with the least consumption of coal. Every bit of heat is made use of, and the gases that pass into the chimney are practically cold. That means less coal is used.

Another Point:

In Magee Ranges the flues—the sheet flue and the extra flue at the back of the oven—are so constructed that the draft from the fire-box must pass around, UNDER and BACK of the oven before entering the chimney. Thus every bit of heat is fully utilized and is supplied IN AN EQUAL DEGREE to ALL SIDES of the food to be baked or roasted.

The result is the perfection of good cookery.

Magee Ranges for over 50 years have proven their merit. Magee stove castings are the best in the world. If you want the best there is in a cooking range in your kitchen buy a Magee, you will make no mistake. We will be pleased to have you call and examine the different styles of Magee ranges now on exhibition in our salesroom.

Remember a good stove is a joy to the household, and a poor one—well you know what General Sherman said about war.

NEWPORT AND THE HARBOR IMPROVEMENT LOAN.

The proposed bond issue of $500,000, on which the voters of the state are to express an opinion at the polls next Tuesday, means so much for the future development of the commerce of Rhode Island that it deserves careful attention. The commission which recommended this preliminary step to the General Assembly was instructed to report upon the navigable waters of Narragansett bay and its tributaries, with the end in view of opening the ports situated on these waters to a greater coastwise if not trans-Atlantic trade than they now enjoy. Particular stress has been placed upon the benefits which would accrue to Providence, Pawtucket and East Providence, if this proposed bond issue should meet the approval of the electors of the state, but there can be no doubt that the city of Newport, situated as it is on the navigable waters of Narragansett bay, would be entitled to, and would receive, just consideration on the part of the General Assembly which would have the final decision as to how the proceeds of the bonds should be spent.

If Newport needs a public dock which would be used by shippers even proportionately as much as one would be used in either of the three ports previously mentioned, or if there are improvements to be made in Newport harbor which would result eventually in benefitting the commerce of what was once the greatest maritime exchange on the Atlantic coast, then surely a part at least of the proposed bond issue should and would be expended here, if the opportunity presents itself. A vote for the bond issue will assist in the development of all the ports on Narragansett bay, and indirectly the trade and commerce of all Rhode Island.

CANADA'S NEW CHANCE.

The English have always pretended to think we are a harum-scarum people, venturesome, not to say reckless, with not much capacity for distinguishing between gambling and legitimate business. The fact is that we are the most conservative people who speak the English language. Englishmen in Australia have advanced further than any other community in the direction of state socialism, Englishmen at home have shown strong leanings in that direction and have enacted some legislation which would strike Americans as tampering with vested interests, and Englishmen in Canada have gone about to the limit in the way of governmental assistance of transportation interests.

The latest scheme is only a scheme, an overture to the Canadian government, but is understood to be a response to the government's wishes to branch out in the direction of ocean steamships. The Dominion has spent enormous sums in subsidizing railroads to the Pacific coast and two or three lines to ports on the Atlantic. Its Welland canal, its harbor improvements at Montreal, and its St. Lawrence canals, represent an immense investment and undoubtedly just at present are drawing a good deal of American grain for export. But, after all, the profit in thus shipping grain is not so great as to make it quite sure that all these expenditures are remunerative.

Harlan & Wolff, the great Belfast shipbuilders, and half a dozen steamship lines have pensioned the Dominion government to grant a subsidy of $250,000 a year for 50 years in aid of a dry dock and ship repair plant at St. John and the largest dry dock in the world and a shipbuilding plant at Quebec. It must be remembered that the St. Lawrence route is closed several months of every year, while fogs, ice and narrow channels make its navigation during the rest of the year dangerous enough to call for additional insurance rates. These are substantial limitations upon the maritime ambitions of the Dominion. The subsidy asked is nearly four per cent on the cost of the two plants, and is to be continued 50 years. With that sort of a guarantee the promoters would not be running great risk. No other government than that of the Dominion would be likely to make such a grant.

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE LIBRARIES.

Massachusetts is a little slow in just deciding to establish a legislative reference library. Rhode Island is not always ahead of the times, and yet it has had for some little while such a library, while they have been instituted in many other states of the Union. Indeed, they have become so firmly established as an aid to legislators that where they have existed for even a short period they are considered invaluable and a necessity to the state. Here in Rhode Island the library has justified its creation by its usefulness to the members of the legislature and the officials, for whose convenience and information primarily it was started, and also to many others who have learned of its existence and find within its walls the knowledge they desire upon matters of public interest and importance. It supplies a want which is more and more felt each year, and supplies it better than perhaps any other library can, because it is its special province to do this particular sort of work.

The legislative reference library is designed to afford to those who desire it as full information as possible upon all matters pertaining to the public welfare and interest. It thus collects and files for reference not only books and manuscripts, but also magazines and clippings from newspapers. In this work it is of course following closely the methods adopted in any good public library of the present day, but it tries to be more exhaustive of the available resources for information on the particular subjects which come within its province, and, confining its efforts to those special lines, is able to succeed in its purpose to be the best possible source of information on matters which are of particular moment to legislators and publicists generally.

This does not mean that its range of subjects is narrow, for there are few matters of general and practical interest today which do not have some bearing on public interests, and so the legislative reference libraries carry the collectors sometimes as it might seem, far afield from the particular line of work which they are supposed to do. In fact, there is comparatively little literature of any kind which does not have some relation to public questions, and so some importance in connection with legislation. Of course it is not to be expected that a library of this sort will be stocked with the masterpieces of literature, or collections of novels, or books on music, art or science, or that other subjects of this general nature will be on its shelves. Yet there are many matters which have an indirect bearing upon public interests which find their way to the legislative reference library, which might be considered at first glance to be out of place there.

The good result gained through the medium of such libraries is the knowledge they are giving to those who are elected to public office regarding things concerning which they ought to be informed. Before these libraries were instituted the gaining of such information was too difficult a process for the average office holder to bother about it, but now, with the information he desires at his hand and a librarian ready to find it for him, he has no excuse for being ignorant upon matters concerning which he ought to be informed. So legislators are becoming much better acquainted with their duties and much better supplied with accurate knowledge on public questions. Thus it is coming to be true that a legislator or a public official is ashamed not to know something at least about subjects under consideration in the legislative halls. This increase of knowledge of this sort means better government, for intelligence always means that. Legislators are not now so much as was the case voting in the dark on public matters, but know what they are voting for and why they vote as they do. It may still be true that they do not always vote as they should, but in most cases now they at least know how they ought to vote and how they would vote if party influences did not intervene, and even that is a distinct gain. The library goes farther than this, and encourages independence of thought and action on the part of legislators and officials.

A STEP TOWARD CHURCH UNITY.

At the closing session of the Episcopal Missionary Conference of New England, at Hartford, Conn., Bishop Hall made an address which must be regarded as one of the most pronounced steps toward church unity which has been taken, and gives promise not only of receiving widespread attention among the various denominations of the Christian Church but of bringing about a greater unity of spirit, if not of form, in church organizations. Bishop Hall proposed a union of the Protestant Episcopal and Congregational churches in one catholic and apostolic faith. "The Episcopal Church," he says, "stands ready to give up its 39 articles of religion and is willing to give up its name of 'Episcopal' and to sink its identity in return for truth, simple and definite."

Following Dr. Hall many earnest speakers attested their hearty, enthusiasm over the proposed amalgamation, and it was decided to arrange conferences at various points throughout New England to consider the proposition, and by securing local opinions in various places ascertain if the idea is feasible and likely to succeed.

The Democrats of Tennessee have been at odds over the election of a successor to United States Senator James B. Frazier, who is opposed by a considerable faction of the party, and the name of Jacob M. Dickinson, Secretary of War, has been mentioned as a compromise. Mr. Dickinson has consented to be considered a candidate, under these circumstances, though he will make no personal contest for the election. His friends will carry on the campaign and his chances for securing the prize are regarded as excellent.

As election day approaches the indications seem to increase that Tammany's candidates will be beaten in New York next Tuesday. Mr. Bannard, the Republican nominee, has apparently gained daily in his campaigning, while Judge Gaynor, the Democratic candidate, has not strengthened himself in the organization or made new friends and supporters. But Tammany is always loyal to its candidate at the polls, however unsatisfactory he may have been, and nobody can tell what the result will be.

Again this fall, as in each year since the new charter went into effect, there seems to be no prospect of lack of candidates for seats in the Representative Council. The old-time politicians thought nominations for the Council would go begging, but there has been an abundance of good material. There are so many Councilmen that they do not receive the abuse once heaped on members and the service accordingly is not distasteful to those who are sensitive to criticism, especially when it is unmerited.

If Rockefeller's millions can cure the shiftlessness of the South, or the parasite which causes it, they will be a great blessing to that part of the country, and to the world as well.

Seven inches of snow are reported from northern New York, a big fall for so early in the season.

Newport will have political speaking in the present campaign on only two evenings. It is enough.

TRAVEL IN NOVA SCOTIA.

[Consul Alfred J. Fleming, of Yarmouth, in Consular Report.]

While the fish industry in Nova Scotia's great revenue producer, followed by lumber and fruit, the revenue from the tourist travel is considerable. During the four months of this summer season—May, June, July and August—16,311 people were brought from Boston to Yarmouth on the Dominion Atlantic ships. Reports from St. John, N. B., say that the American line of steamships from Boston brought in more than one-third more people this year than last, the figures of that port showing nearly 25,000 arrivals, while reports from Halifax also show large increases over previous years.

Via these three gateways into Nova Scotia more than 60,000 people came into this province during the four months. Of that number fully 80 per cent were health, pleasure and rest seekers the remainder being the usual commercial travelers. The pleasure seekers remain one to twelve weeks and spend lots of money. Figuring the expenses of the 60,000 at $15 each on steamships, including staterooms and meals, the three ship lines received $900,000. They also probably spent $45,000 for touring the province over the railroads. It would be a low estimate to place the average expenditure of these 60,000 people at $20 each for hotels, goods purchased, and the many incidentals of health and pleasure seekers. This swells the total to $2,550,000 spent in this province during the summer season recently closed. Every town, village and hamlet has been filled with American tourists all summer. Yarmouth, Digby and Annapolis Royal were never better patronized. The figures given are if low, rather than too high, and it is barely possible that the summer travel into Nova Scotia by Americans this past season, including fares, would approximate $3,000,000. It is evident that a large per cent of the money taken in by the Nova Scotian merchants, banks and hotels is United States money. Every one who has money at all has a large portion of American currency, and it is no trouble to secure it.

As to the 16,311 who came to Yarmouth, their passage at $15 each gave the Dominion Atlantic Line $244,665; and as that line also operates the main railroad line to the "Famous Evangeline Land" and Halifax, the passengers paid nearly as much, or $150,000 to $175,000, for railroad fare. Thus one company derived about $400,000 for the four months' work, not counting the receipts from increased freights. The travelers also spent, say, $20 each in this immediate vicinity, which shows the importance of summer tourist business to this consular district, as well as to the entire province.

MIMICRY IN FISHES.

[London Globe.]

In a lecture on fish photography at the Royal Photographic Society's exhibition Dr. Francis Ward said that the power which certain fish possessed to change their color in harmony with their environment resided in the eye. If a pike in such a position that its head was in a dark chamber, while the rest of its body lay in bright sunshine. Although its resting place was perfectly white, the pike remained black in color. But when he reversed its position and caused its head to be in the sunlight its color changed to a very much lighter hue within the space of a few minutes. It was evident that in fish, which possess protective powers of this kind to a greater extent than birds or any other creatures, the light acted upon the optic nerve, thus causing the pigment cells all over the skin to contract or relax.

Brayton Dodges the Warwick Separation Question.

Resignation of a Providence Pastor Accepted— Opera House Religious Services.

Although a citizen and a voter in the town of Warwick, Charles R. Brayton has no opinion on the question of separating the eastern and western parts of Warwick into two district townships. To a committee appointed at a meeting in Pawtuxet Tuesday evening to request him to use his influence in bringing about the division of the town, Brayton answered that he would not express any opinion on the subject. He assured them, however, that he was willing to aid in their fight to restore the five-cent carfare to the children attending the Warwick high school. As a result of Brayton's answer to the committee, there was but little enthusiasm at the adjourned public meeting Thursday evening. The committee which was appointed to ascertain the opinions of the candidates for the General Assembly reported that none of them were willing to give a positive answer. With remarkable unanimity the members of the Warwick delegation to the Assembly told the committee that they would support the movement in the legislature, if it is shown that a majority of the people of the town are in favor of separation. The Democratic candidates were not interviewed by the committee. There were 24 taxpayers present at the meeting and they resolved themselves into a committee of the whole to create a public interest in the question of separation and secure a large attendance at the financial town meeting to be held November 10. The meeting voted unanimously in favor of separation. Steps will be taken at once to have the question submitted to the taxpayers for a vote at the forthcoming financial town meeting. If the proposition is favored by a majority of the taxpayers, petitions will then be placed in circulation which later will be presented to the General Assembly.

The resignation of Rev. John R Brown, Ph. D., as pastor of the Central Baptist Church, Providence, was accepted by a unanimous vote, without discussion, at the annual church meeting Thursday evening, and takes effect January 1, 1910. Dr. Brown was out of the city and did not attend. The meeting was largely attended and the proceedings were followed with a great deal of interest. Many of those who took part in the discussions laid emphasis on the fact that the present time appeared to be a critical period in the church's history. A spirit of complete harmony was manifested and everything indicated that the church's vote last week to remain in its present location had settled that question permanently. When the pastor's resignation came up for action A. B. McCrillis moved that, as the pastor's action was final, the resignation be accepted. This action was taken by a rising vote.

The First Baptist Church of Providence voted unanimously Thursday evening to authorize its pastor Rev. E. A. Hanley, D. D., to hold Sunday evening religious services in the Providence Opera House. The vote was accompanied by a show of enthusiasm which was described afterward by Dr. Hanley as the most remarkable during his pastorate. It is planned to hold the first theatre meeting on the evening of Sunday, November 14, under the auspices of the class for men. Dr. Hanley will preach and there will be music by a chorus of 100 voices, a male quartet and by instrumentalists. The vote to hold the Opera House meetings was reached only after a thorough explanation of the purposes of the movement. Not a single objection to the plan arose in the course of the discussion. The meeting was a large one and when the motion to grant the necessary permission had been made by Professor W. C. Poland and seconded by David W. Hoyt the church voted not only to give permission for the meetings to be held, but also to support them. Among the numerous ends to be reached by such meetings, Dr. Hanley spoke of the number of non-church-goers who would be reached, the experience which the experiment would give the class for men, 75 members of which would be used as ushers at each service; the enlarged faith which the work would give to the church, and the courage which would come to the other churches of the city through the First Church's example.

The two remaining certificates of deposit of the Union Trust Company will be payable Thursday of next week, although not due under the terms of the re-organization plan until May and November, 1911. The condition of the institution, however, is such that the directors have found it possible to liquidate these certificates before their maturity. The payment of the last two of the seven certificates of deposit was decided upon at the last meeting of the directors, and Thursday it was announced that the directors have declared the regular semi-annual dividend at the rate of six per cent per annum, which is equivalent to 12 per share, on the capital stock of the bank. This is payable on or after November 4. The directors have also announced the payment of interest to the amount of 1½ per cent on the unpaid balance of one negotiable certificates of deposit, 1½ per cent on the contingent certificates and one per cent on the deferred certificates. The several interest accounts are payable on and after November 4.

Miss Florence Griswold DeWolf, formerly a member of the board of control of the State Home and School and well known in charitable work, died at the home of her brother-in-law, Nathaniel G. Herreshoff, in Bristol, Thursday afternoon. Miss De Wolf, who was 46 years old, had been ill for several months. Her death was due to nephritis. She was a daughter of Mrs. Clara Dinan DeWolf and the late Algernon Sidney DeWolf and was born in Bristol August 24, 1863, a granddaughter of former Governor Byron Dinan and a descendant of Bishop Griswold, the noted divine. She is survived by a brother, John DeWolf of Bristol, and a sister, Mrs. Luga Vint of San Juan, Porto Rico, wife of an army surgeon. For several years Miss DeWolf was well known in yachting circles and was skipper of her small sloop Kildee and was a flag member of the Bristol Yacht Club. She was an attendant at St. Margaret's Church of Bristol and was connected with various organized charitable associations. Miss DeWolf had lived for some years at the home of her brother-in-law, at whose home she died. Her sister, Mrs. Herreshoff, died some time ago.

THE DANGEROUS GAME OF AFRICA.

[Theodore Roosevelt, in Scribner's.]

The dangerous game of Africa are the lion, buffalo, elephant, rhinoceros, and leopard. The hunter who follows any of these animals always does so at a certain risk to life or limb; a risk which it is his business to minimize by coolness, caution, good judgment, and straight shooting. The leopard is in point of pluck and ferocity more than the equal of the other four; but his small size always renders it likely that he will merely maul, and not kill a man. My friend, Carl Akely, of Chicago, actually killed bare-handed a leopard which sprang on him. He had already wounded the beast twice, crippling it in one front and one hind paw, whereupon it charged, followed him as he tried to dodge the charge, and struck him full just as he turned. It bit him in one arm, biting again and again as it worked up the arm from the wrist to the elbow; but Akely threw it, holding its throat with the other hand, and flinging its body to one side. It quickly fell on its side with its two wounded legs uppermost, so that it could not tear him. He fell forward with it and crushed in its chest with his knees until the distinctly felt one of its ribs crack; this, said Akely, was the first moment when he felt he might conquer. Redoubling his efforts, with knees and hands, he actually choked and crushed the life out of it, although his arm was badly bitten. A leopard will charge at least as readily as one of the big beasts, and is rather more apt to get his charge home, but the risk is less to life than to limb.

There are other animals often or occasionally dangerous to human life which are, nevertheless, not dangerous to the hunter. Crocodiles are far greater pests, and far more often man-eaters, than lions or leopards; but their shooting is not accompanied by the smallest element of risk. Poisonous snakes are fruitful sources of accident, but they are actuated only by fear, and the anger born of fear. The hippopotamus sometimes destroys boats and kills those in them; but again there is no risk in hunting him. Finally, the hyena, too cowardly ever to be a source of danger to the hunter, is sometimes a dreadful curse to the weak and helpless.

SOME ANCIENT VESSELS.

[London Globe.]

What is the oldest ship still in active service? According to a Paris contemporary, the mercantile marine of Denmark possesses 10 ancient steamers varying from 14 to 68 tons, the oldest of which was built in 1723 and the youngest in 1810. They are all engaged in carrying granite and other heavy cargo in the Baltic and North seas. The name of the "eldest sister" is the Constance, of 27 tons, so she has seen 186 summers. It is almost needless to add that these ancient "sisters" are constructed of wood.

TABLEAUX AND MUSIC.

Crowded Gathering Sees Entertainment for Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. Social Work.

The entertainment given Thursday evening for the benefit of the social work of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association attracted an audience which filled Masonic hall to overflowing, every seat being occupied and many standing in the rear of the hall during the long program. It was arranged by a number of women of the churches of the city, interested in the social and religious work of the Association, with the assistance of Secretary E. O. Andrews, his associates and the hearty co-operation of soldiers and sailors from the posts and stations in Newport.

The program opened with a march, "The Pacifier," by Heed, rendered by the Naval Training Station orchestra, L. A. Wood leader, and this was followed by a chorus, "Starlight," sung by 50 apprentice seamen from the Station, under the direction of H. W. Rankin, director. Then came a series of tableaux, for which the stage settings were arranged by C. Leslie Clarke, the subjects and participants being as follows:

Scene 1—Coming through the Rye.
Miss Marie Appelgren, Mr. Charles Ehrhardt.
Scene 2—The Soldier's Farewell.
Miss Marie Appelgren, Mr. Charles Ehrhardt.
Scene 3—"Take your Gun and Go, John"
Miss Gertrude Haas, Mr. J. Frederick.
Scene 4—Mother's Parting Blessing.
Mr. George Frye, Mrs. George Fyre, Mr. P. Dugan.
Scene 5—Drill of Young Recruits.
Boys' Brigade of St. George's Church, Captain John Carley.
Scene 6—Hospital Scene.
Surgeon, Mr. Alex. Thompson; nurse, Miss Sadie Patterson; soldiers, Mr. Polk, Mr. Smith.
Scene 7—"Marching Through Georgia."
Ten soldiers from Fort Adams, Privates Polk, Dugan, Oakham, Brant, Stevens, Goodman, Dinerstein, Smith, Laird.
Scene 8—Camp Life.
Ten Soldiers.
Popular Air, Orchestra
"When you want me dear."
Scene 9—Tenting at Night.

Scene 12—Nine Soldiers.
Scene 13—"Grafted into the Army."
Miss Gertrude Haas.
Marsovia, Orchestra
Scene 14—Soldier's Dream.
Soldier, Mr. Charles Ehrhardt; sweetheart, Miss Appelgren; mother, Miss Paul.
Scene 15—Union Helpers.
Mr. James Thompson, Mr. Frank King, Mr. Alex. Thompson, Mr. Ed. King.
Scene 16—The Soldier's Return.
Scene 17—"The Vacant Chair."
Mother, Miss Paul; Child, Ruth Bailey; Angel, Bertha Thompson.
Scene 18—Columbian drill.
Grace Maycock, Frances Edgar, Jennie Sisson, Grace Clarke, Susie Hoper, Anna Woods, Dorothy Foster, Esther Greenland, Gladys Darr, Dorothy Hale, Madeline Edgar, Mandé Sisson.
Scene 19—"Godess of Liberty."
Miss Philippine Mohr.
Scene 20—"Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," and "Star Spangled Banner."
Chorus and orchestra.

Between the tableaux Mrs. G. W. Ford read patriotic selections. Miss Gertrude Haas and Mr. T. S. Copley sang several selections in place of Miss Siegfried, who was unable to be present, and Miss Bertha Titcomb gave piano selections and accompanied the singers.

The drill by the St. George's Cadets, and the Columbian drill were especially pleasing.

Messrs. Yeomen, Lashfter, Dingman, E. C. Williams, H. W. Smith, Anderson, Reynolds, Eason and Suddath, from the Naval Training Station, acted as ushers.

JAMESTOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

A party of young men from here will attend the dinner of the Young Men's Republican Club in Newport this evening.

Mrs. Griffith was on the Island today, looking after the closing of her summer cottage at the Dumplings.

Other than the posting and circulating of reading matter pertaining to the questions of license, there is no activity shown in next Tuesday's election. The absence of a local contest for the office of senator and representative being responsible for the lack of interest. This is unfortunate in as far that several constitutional amendments and the harbor loan bill are to be voted on and each in itself is of enough importance to demand the attention of every voter.

Miss A. E. Barber has returned from a short visit to relatives in Connecticut.

Tug Scranton of the Lackawana line is tied up to Ferry wharf, awaiting better weather conditions outside.

Mrs. Alonzo Tefft left yesterday on a short trip to New London.

Mrs. Ralph Fuller of Providence is guest of her parents, Captain and Mrs. C. L. Champlin, on Bryer avenue.

A 1,000 FOOT AIRSHIP.

Monster Balloon Planned to Carry 100 People Largest Craft Ever Constructed in America.

Wilbur R. Kimball, an aeronautic expert, has completed plans for a dirigible balloon which is to be more than 1,000 feet long and designed to carry 100 passengers. He has begun the construction of a practical working model 125 feet in length and has exhibited it to many of his friends, who declared that they were deeply interested in the device and much impressed with its apparent practicability.

The model itself will be the largest lighter-than-air craft ever constructed in America, and will be put in active commission as soon as it is finished, in order that the plans for the aerial Mauretania may be thoroughly tried. The preliminaries of assembling the materials for the full-sized airship will take at least three years. It will cost about $50,000 and the gas bag will be almost one-fifth of a mile in length and 100 feet in diameter.

The length of this monster airship will exceed the width of that part of the East river which is spanned by the Brooklyn bridge, or the height of the Pulitzer building and the Metropolitan Life building placed upon each other. Mr. Kimball thinks it will be capable of carrying 100 persons or their weight in freight. By the time it is built he believes airships of the dirigible type will be in commission as extra fast freight carriers and passenger-bearing transports between New York and Chicago.

The tremendous motive power driving the craft will, it is expected, enable it to stem any winds, barring extraordinary hurricanes. When this airship is built it will be about 300 feet longer than the Lusitania and exactly double the length of the great Zeppelin airship.

The model which Kimball and his associates are building is patterned after the familiar torpedo shaped gas bag. Instead of carrying the rudder on the car or frame underneath, the balloon has a great fish shaped fin in the rear, which acts as a rudder and is controlled from the pilot's cabin.

The most radical departure from the accepted type of dirigible balloons is the bamboo cage, which will be fitted around the bag to make it rigid. Instead of placing one great propeller at the prow of the car, Kimball has placed 24 three-feet-wide, four-bladed propellers around the circumference of the balloon. In doing this he develops the construction suggested by Zeppelin, who places his driving screws on each side of his aluminum balloon.

The motor driving those propellers develops 65 horse-power and is capable of pushing the ship at the rate of 35 to 40 miles an hour. It is planned to carry enough gasoline on the model ship to travel between New York and Albany. The model ship will carry only two passengers. It will have elevating and depressing planes fore and aft. The car will be 75 feet long.

"I hope to have the model ship finished before spring," said Mr. Kimball. "I do not consider the flight from New York to Albany, at all arduous. I am so thoroughly convinced that regular airship service will be established between New York and Chicago in five years that I am simply building this ship as a tryout for the 1,000 feet long dirigible we have decided to construct. With this model we shall be able to discover flaws and test all parts.

"When the larger ship is put together we shall be able to build it with as much precision as you can build a steamship. I am convinced that by the time it is finished there will be a great demand for air transportation. I don't mean that people will take airship trips for the novelty of the voyage, but because it will be a time-saving way of traveling.

"Both the model ship and the big craft will have balloons constructed of the Baldwin rubberized silk. In the ship I am building now I shall place the gas directly in the large bag. In the big ship we shall use 10 compartments in the large envelope, like bulkheads. This will always give us filling mechanism in case any one of the compartments is damaged so that the gas escapes."

Stephen D. Conger and some men of wealth are associated with Kimball in the undertaking. Mr. Kimball is the electrical engineer who created the light effects at Coney Island. He has built two aeroplanes, and frequently lectures on aeronautics. He is a member of the Aero Club of America and of the Aeronautic Society.

HE CAME ON FOR PLEASURE.

[Thomas L. Masson in Lippincott's.]

The private omnibus drew up in front of a middle-class New York hotel, and out of it stepped a tall, thin man, clad in a black broadcloth suit and a straw hat, and a woman with a demure countenance and a silk brocaded gown.

They approached the clerk at the counter. The man registered. The woman waited by his side.

"How far away is Brooklyn?" he asked.

"About 30 minutes by the subway."

"And can we reach the Jersey suburbs and see our cousins there in a day?"

"You can be landed within a range of 40 miles in an hour and a quarter."

"How long does it take to reach the Zoological gardens?"

"You can make it in about three-quarters of an hour."

"And how about the Statue of Liberty and the Aquarium?"

"Boat leaves for statue every half-hour or so. Thirty minutes from here by subway."

"You're pretty tired, Sarah," he said, "and I guess you had better set down. I'll find out the rest."

He took her over to a seat in the lobby and came back. He leaned forward confidentially.

"How far away is the nearest race-track?" he asked.

"Belmont Park in less than an hour."

"Any poker games going on around here?"

"Dozens."

"Good dance-halls—where you can kick up?"

"Almost anywhere along Sixth Avenue—two blocks away."

"You keep good whiskey here?"

"Eighty brands. Down-stairs—one turn to right."

The stranger gave a side look at the lady he had come with, who was gazing upward at the fancy soap ceiling. Then he leaned still farther forward.

"You see," he whispered, "it's this way. We've been married 10 years, and this is the first time we could break away. Now, 'long about tomorrow or next day I'm going to lose her—see?—and paint this old town red, green, and light blue. And say, better give me a latch key! There may be nights when I won't roll in until midnight!"

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The Casino will close Sunday.

—Barge Alice is discharging a cargo of coal at the Training Station, for the Newport Coal Company.

—The Fourth ward now has three candidates for alderman. William F. Adams having filed papers at the city clerk's office today.

—Mrs. Ellen Fitzpatrick, collector of the Catholic Women's Beneficial Legion, has paid to the beneficiaries of Annie E. Carroll the $500 benefit which she had in the order.

—At the Opera House Saturday there will be a new series of pictures, a comedy entitled "A Breach of Promise," a drama, "Wife or Child," and two others, "Gratitude" and "My Wife Has Gone to the Country."

—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thompson, I. G. Johnson, J. T. Luscomb and M. L. Davis of Boston; J. P. V. Ober, U. S. N., L. A. Choppette of New London and Maurice Loeb of Chicago are registered at the Perry House.

—The football season for the Carleton cup, offered for competition by the Army and Navy teams in this district, will open tomorrow, when Fort Adams plays the Torpedo Station team at the Training Station, and the Training Station team plays Fort Greble at Fort Greble.

—Karr & Beeson will soon begin the construction of a filtration plant for the Jamestown Water Company, on the principle of the big one which is being built for the Newport Water Company. The one at Easton's pond is advancing well and this week 15 of the carpenters were laid off because of there being no further need for them.

—There are two feature pictures at the Bijou Theatre this week, "The Twelfth Juror," an interesting drama, and "A Patriot," a story of the Revolutionary War. The comedies are "An Eventful Trip," a trick picture, and "A Game of Chess," with two educational pictures, "Glimpses of Yellowstone Park" and a travelette of "The Great White North." The illustrated songs are "When Summer Tells Autumn Good-bye," by Miss Hoyler, and "The Yiddish Cowboy," by Mr. Frank Bennett.

CHURCH THIEF CONVICTED.

Beaudry Sentenced to Ninety Days in the Providence County Jail on Each of Two Cases.

In the district court this morning there was a long trial of Joseph T. Beaudry, charged with the larceny of two pocketbooks from St. Mary's Church Wednesday, October 13. The first case was that for the larceny of a pocketbook containing $2 and some change, at the evening service. A number of girls ranging from 12 to 14 years old were witnesses to the fact, and chased the thief from the church. Apparently they were on the lookout, after the larceny of the morning, and were good witnesses, telling what they saw and not mixing it up with things they thought they saw. They recognized the defendant by his injured right hand.

The prisoner himself went on the stand. He had no counsel, and denied taking anything from the church, though he said he was in church that evening. He denied being in the church Wednesday morning at all. When confronted with the two convictions for similar offences in Boston, in April and October of last year, he at first refused to say anything. When the court said such evidence of former convictions could be used against him and it would be better to tell the truth, he acknowledged that he had been convicted as the record showed, but denied doing anything more than going into the church and saying his beads. The girls, however, had been doing the Sherlock Holmes act, and it was all against him.

In regard to the morning case the evidence was not so good. Two lads, the oldest ten years, were the witnesses. It was during the elevation that they saw the prisoner's hands over the back of the pew in which sat the woman whose pocketbook and $7.15 was taken. He left soon after and as he went out the boys saw him put something in his pocket, but they thought it was a prayer book. After the mass, when the woman searched for her pocketbook, they knew what it was. Apparently it was the recital of the boy's story which set the girls to "rubbering" at the evening service, and led to the conviction of the prisoner.

He was found guilty on both charges and sentenced to the Providence County jail for 90 days on each. The costs are heavy and will make this sentence much longer, as he will be obliged to work out the costs.

Beaudry claimed that he was a stone cutter, but his crushed hand interfered with his working somewhat. He said he came here to go to work on the Nurses' Home, but apparently he lost no time in going to work at St. Mary's Church instead, starting the morning after his arrival.

THE BATONYI DIVORCE CASE.

Ex-Judge William M. K. Olcott, counsel for Mrs. Frances Work Burke Roche Batonyi, applied to Justice Dowling in the New York supreme court Thursday to affirm the finding of the jury two weeks ago in favor of Mrs. Batonyi in her divorce suit against Angel Batonyi, and also to take formal proof necessary before the affirmation of the finding could be followed by an interlocutory decree of divorce.

Justice Dowling asked Mr. Olcott if he asked for alimony for his client. He said he did not, but reserved the right to do so later should Mrs. Batonyi find it necessary.

Morris Cukor, of counsel for Batonyi, opposed the confirmation of the findings of the jury, saying that the trial of all the issues involved except those passed upon by the jury should be now heard. Justice Dowling said he would accept a brief from Mr. Cukor, in which he could set forth all his reasons and all the authorities relied on by him why the findings of the jury should be affirmed.

The court reserved decision.

A QUESTION FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS OF OUR SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Last Thursday, October 21, the Daily News of Fall River printed an interesting article entitled "More Marks of a Better City." This article gave the good effects visible under prohibition. In five months under no-license there have been 344 fewer crimes where the perpetrators were "held for trial" than under high license. Other interesting items are given, showing encouraging results, but the writer says there have been more arrests for drunkeness. He explains this fact by saying: "But as nearly all those arrests are due to the saloons in Tiverton, we may say an open enemy outside the city hath done us this dishonor. We have been attacked from without; we have not ourselves by our votes established this shame within our borders." This shame is established by the votes of a part of our own state. What do the boys and girls of our schools think Roger Williams and the founders of Rhode Island would think of the part Tiverton is playing in the effort for the world's betterment?

Newport, Oct. 29, 1909.

COLD ENOUGH TO FREEZE.

The weather bureau's prediction of frost next Tuesday—and not a political frost at that—was anticipated in Newport by several days, for water in exposed places was found coated with ice this morning. It was not a heavy coat, but it certainly was ice. The curious thing was not that there was ice but that there was ice in places and a few feet away the dahlias looked as pretty as ever—and dahlias are supposed to be particularly susceptible to frost. This morning the temperature was just above the freezing mark, 35 at The News office at 8 o'clock. It gradually but very slowly went up to 43 at 2, and then, even in the sun, where the northwester had a fair chance it did not feel like summer.

CHANGE WOULD BE WELCOME.

Declaration of Independence for Nicaraguan States Expected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The report that the revolutionary administration under General Estrada contemplates an early proclamation of the independence of the Atlantic coast states of Nicaragua as a republic seems to have a basis in fact. The State Department has received an official despatch from Nicaragua to that general effect, and the officials would not be surprised at the issue of a declaration of independence very shortly. It is pointed out, however, that certain preliminaries would have to be disposed of as a condition precedent to the recognition of the new republic by the United States. One of these, in addition to the establishment of a responsible government, is the location of a definite boundary line between the two republics.

It is well known here that the State Department is in full sympathy with the revolutionary move, and would welcome any change which would result in the retirement of Zelaya, the present head of the Nicaraguan government.

MACKEREL OUTSIDE.

The fish receipts at the depot up to this afternoon were just six barrels. Three came from Block Island, the result of two days fishing; the Atlantic Trapping Company had two barrels of cod, and J. S. Patterson one of flounders. C. A. Easterbrooks had a barrel of mackerel, which will probably be absorbed by the local trade. Captain McKay of the Speculator reports that mackerel are outside, but for the past ten days or so the weather has been unfit for fishing. He reports bullseyes about 30 miles off shore, with mackerel closer in, and prospects of a catch if the weather moderates.

MAKES AFFIDAVIT BEFORE AUDIENCE.

tion expressed confidence in the story of Barrill and Printz, the guides who said that Cook did not climb Mt. McKinley. Attorney Crutchfield, attorney for the guides, questioned Cook after his address, and then the excitement broke forth. Crutchfield challenged Cook's statements. This brought on a disturbance, the fellow-townsmen of the guides taking sides.

A member of the audience offered a resolution at this point, asking that the meeting declare a lack of faith on the part of the entire people of Montana in all matters about which Dr. Cook made claims.

Attorney Roland White of San Francisco, who was in the audience, rose, and as a citizen made a plea for fair play.

Senator Joseph M. Dickinson of Montana also took the floor and urged that fair play be accorded all parties to the controversy. Neither those who were opposed to Dr. Cook nor his friends would accept the resolution, and it was withdrawn by its author.

Edward N. Barrill, the guide who accompanied Dr. Cook up Mt. McKinley, was called on, and, taking the platform, declared that Dr. Cook's statements that they reached the top of Mt. McKinley were incorrect.

Dr. Cook replied by asserting to Barrill's face that the latter's statements were false.

The excitement at this point was intense. Barrill demanded to know why Cook did not make an affidavit to the effect that he had scaled Mt. McKinley.

The challenge had no sooner been issued than it was accepted by the doctor, and an affidavit was made by the explorer on the platform, in the presence of the audience. In it Dr. Cook declared that he ascended Mt. McKinley, that Barrill was with him at the time, and that the records of his ascent were left on the summit of the peak.

The dispute then waxed warmer, Barrill's attorneys and friends denouncing Cook's statements, while friends of the doctor contended for fair play. Attorney Wagner then presented this resolution:

"We, the people of Hamilton and Ravalli counties, assembled, after patiently listening to the charges and counter-charges exchanged by the parties to the Mt. McKinley controversy, do declare our firm belief in the veracity of Edward Barrill and Frederick Printz."

This was carried by a large majority, and the meeting was closed amid great excitement.

CARE OF RUBBER FOOTWEAR.

[New York Sun.]

Some valuable suggestions are contained in a circular issued by a western rubber footwear producing firm.

1—Importance of fitting rubbers properly. However good the quality or perfect the style, rubber shoes will not give satisfactory service if they are not properly fitted to the leather shoes over which they are intended to be worn. Neither can rubber boots or lumbermen's shoes be expected to wear well if they are not properly fitted. Always fit boots as small as they can be worn with comfort. It is impossible to make a boot that will not break in the foot if it is worn too large. Fit them small and thus avoid wrinkles and insure good service.

2—Grease and oil are very injurious. Do not allow grease, oil or animal fat to come in contact with rubber goods, as it will speedily decompose the best rubber that can be produced. Even milk contains enough grease to injure rubber boots and shoes.

3—Strong sunlight is injurious. Rubber boots and shoes when not being worn should always be kept away from the air as much as possible, and in a cool, dark place, as strong sunlight and hot, dry air will soon cause even the best rubber to oxidize and crack, especially where it is wrinkled or the outside surface of the rubber is under a constant strain.

4—Heat is fatal. Remember that heat unbearable to the hand is more than enough to destroy the value and wearing qualities of good rubber boots and shoes. When you warm your feet before the fire or radiator with your rubbers on, by the time you feel the warmth the rubbers are usually cooked to death.

5—Rubber tears easily. This is true of cloth, paper and various other things, but few goods besides rubber have such great tensile strength and yet will tear so easily after a rent is once made.

A Dependable Used Piano Offers Genuine Economy.
Here Is an Unusual Opportunity to Get One at a Bargain.

Each summer we rent new Ivers & Pond pianos to wealthy Newport cottagers. These are now being returned, none the worse in appearance and finish, and improved in musical qualities and action-touch by the slight careful use they have had, for which we have been paid liberally. All are late model which means that in materials, workmanship, musical qualities and durability there is nothing better. They look, sound and will wear like new instruments. Every piano will be fully warranted. Rather than have them returned to our Boston warerooms, already crowded with new 1910 models, we have decided to dispose of them on the spot at prices that will be decidedly interesting to the shrewd buyer. Our usual Easy Payment terms are available during this sale. Write for description and prices.

Whatever your piano need, whether a new, slightly used or second-hand instrument, we can supply you and save you money. Write for full bargain list

CASTELLANE REBUKED.

Court Also Censures Princess and Orders Children to School.

PARIS, Oct. 28.—The court which has under advisement the case of Count Boni do Castellano against his former wife, the present Princess De Sagan, growing out of the difference as to how their two eldest sons should be educated, returned its decision today.

The court rebuked both the count and the princess for their disagreement in the matter of schooling their children, and ordered the judgment of May 27 last put into immediate effect. This earlier judgment provided that, in the event of a disagreement in the matter between the parents, the boys be sent as resident pupils to the Lycee of Janson, where the court said they would be certain to find proper medical attention.

The petition of the count that defendant be penalized $100 daily for each child so long as she failed to obey the order, was rejected and the cost of the case was divided between the two parties.

Following the judgment of last May the princess has deferred placing the children in the school as directed on the grounds that their health was such as to make such a course impracticable. Last Friday the count instituted an action praying for an enforcement of the court's instructions.

ZELAYA BOTTLED UP.

General Advance by Estrada Checked by Lack of Ammunition.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 28.—Passengers arriving today on steamer Impernator, from Bluefields, Nicaragua, report that when they left Bluefields, three days ago, President Zelaya was almost completely bottled up at Managua. A general advance by General Estrada is being checked by a scarcity of ammunition.

MAY MODIFY PHYSICAL TEST.

Difference of Age of Officers Subjected to Trial Should be Taken Into Consideration.

There is a growing belief that President Taft will make some modification of the orders prescribing the annual physical test. The reports received at the War Department from department commanders and other officers express the view that there should be a modification of the requirements generally on the ground that teh orders do not take into consideration the difference of age of officers subjected to the trial. It is also observed that the requirement does not accomplish what was intended by Mr. Roosevelt—the encouragement of physical exercises regularly. It has been proved by experience that officers, on the approach of the date of the physical test, go into training for it and then do nothing more. One argument advanced by the navy in favor of some modification is that, while the order applies only to army officers of the rank of field officer it is made to affect every commissioned officer and warrant officer of the navy, with the exception of those on the verge of retirement. It has also been represented that the alternatives represented by horseback riding, bicycling and walking are not equivalent.

It is expected that out of the situation will come a regulation which will require a physical examination by medical officers once a year. The necessity for this is shown by the fact that some officers have not been examined physically for many years. One proposition is to have an order issued which will require officers to ride or walk so many miles a week and certify to this to the department authorities. This regular exercise in connection with the annual physical examination would keep officers in good trim, would be less annoying and cause less apprehension among members of the personnel than the present situation. There are those who believe that President Taft will not consider the subject unless it is brought to his attention in an official way, as it would mean a change in the order, which was one of President Roosevelt's hobbies.

ROGERS BEATS CLOYNE IN PRACTICE.

The Rogers and Cloyne football teams met Thursday in a short practice game. Rogers came out ahead, but did not make the showing looked for, as the boys were saving themselves for the game with Durfee Saturday, at Fall River. The Cloyne team proved stronger than had been expected, and held its heavier opponents until the last two minutes of play, when Owens broke away and scored the only touchdown, on a run from the 25-yard line. Once before Rogers had rushed to within two yards of the goal line, but Cloyne made a fine stand in the shadow of the goal posts, and held for downs.

Score—Rogers 5, Cloyne 0. Touchdown—Owens. Referee—Mr. Adams of Cloyne. Umpire—Mr. Morgan of Rogers. Timer—Mr. Robbins of Rogers. Time—10-minute halves.

ELECTION WARRANT.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

NEWPORT, Sc. CITY OF NEWPORT.

WHEREAS Tuesday the Second day of November, A. D. 1909, being the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November 1909 is by the Constitution and Laws of this State designated as the day for holding Ward Meetings for the Election of General Officers and a Senator and four Representatives in the General Assembly of this State.

And to give in their ballots, as provided by law, on the question, "Will this City grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors"

And WHEREAS Pursuant to the provisions of Chapters 411, 412 and 413 of the Public Laws, passed by the General Assembly at its January Session, 1909, three propositions of amendment to the Constitution of this State are to be submitted to the electors for their approval or rejection at the general election to be held November 2d, 1909, viz:

"ARTICLE XIII.

"SECTION 1. The house of representatives shall never exceed one hundred members and shall be constituted on the basis of population, always allowing one representative for a fraction exceeding half the ratio; but each town and city shall always be entitled to at least one member; and no town or city shall have more than one-fourth of the whole number of members. The general assembly may, after any new census taken by the authority of the United States or this state, re-apportion the representation in conformity with the foregoing provisions. As soon as this amendment goes into effect, the general assembly shall divide each town and city into as many districts as it is entitled to representatives, and after each census, or as occasion may require, the general assembly may so divide each town and city and one representative shall be elected from each district by the qualified electors thereof. Such districts shall be as nearly equal in population and as compact in territory as possible.

"SEC. 2. This amendment shall take, in the constitution of the state, the place of section 1 of article V, 'Of the house of representatives,' which said section and all other provisions of the constitution inconsistent herewith are hereby annulled."

"ARTICLE XIV.

"SECTION 1. The lieutenant-governor shall preside in the senate and in grand committee. The presiding officer of the senate and grand committee shall have a right to vote in case of equal division, but not otherwise.

"SEC. 2. If, by reason of death, resignation, absence, or other cause, the lieutenant-governor is not present, to preside in the senate, the senate shall elect one of their own members to preside during such absence or vacancy; and until such election is made by the senate, the secretary of state shall preside. The presiding officer of the senate shall preside in grand committee and in joint assembly.

"SEC. 3. This amendment shall take, in the constitution of the state, the place of sections 3 and 3 of article VI, 'Of the senate,' which said sections and all other provisions of the constitution inconsistent herewith are hereby annulled."

"ARTICLE XV.

"SECTION 1. Every bill, resolution, or vote (except such as relate to adjournment) the organization or conduct of either or both houses of the general assembly, and resolutions proposing amendment to the constitution) which shall have passed both houses of the general assembly shall be presented to the governor. If he approve it he shall sign it and thereupon it shall become operative; but if he does not approve it he shall return it, accompanied by his objections in writing, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter his objections in full upon its journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, three-fifths of the members present and voting in that house shall vote to pass the measure, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by three-fifths of the members present and voting in that house, it shall become operative in the same manner as if the governor had approved it, but in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by ayes and nays and the names of the members voting for and against the measure shall be entered upon the journal of each house, respectively. If the measure shall not be returned by the governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him the same shall become operative unless the general assembly, by adjournment, prevents its return, in which case it shall become operative unless transmitted by the governor to the secretary of state, with his disapproval in writing, within ten days after such adjournment."

AND WHEREAS the General Assembly of this State at its January Session A. D. 1909, on May 5, 1909, adopted a resolution in the words following, viz:

"RESOLVED, That the following proposition be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday in November 1909:"

HARBOR IMPROVEMENT LOAN.

Shall the general assembly be authorized and directed to provide for the issue of state bonds not to exceed the amount of five hundred thousand dollars, for the improvement and improvement of shore property in Providence, Pawtucket and East Providence, these bonds to be issued from time to time in such amounts and upon such terms as the general assembly may hereafter determine?

WHEREFORE the qualified electors of this city are hereby warned and notified to meet in their respective Ward Meetings on said TUESDAY THE SECOND DAY OF NOVEMBER 1909 at half past six o'clock in the morning at the following named places; viz:

IN THE FIRST WARD, at the Ward Room in No. 2 Fire Station Building, Bridge Street.

IN THE SECOND WARD, at the Ward Room in No. 4 Fire Station Building, Equality Park Place.

IN THE THIRD WARD, at the Ward Room in No. 1 Fire Station Building, Mill Street.

IN THE FOURTH WARD, at 394 Thames Street, in the Father Mathew Total Abstinence Benevolent Society Building.

IN THE FIFTH WARD, at Hibernian Hall, Wellington Avenue (formerly Grace Chapel.)

IN ORDER that the aforesaid Propositions of Amendment to the Constitution of the State and Proposition to issue State Bonds may be read to the electors when they are assembled, before the election of Senator and Representatives shall be had.

AND to give in their ballots as provided by law, for GOVERNOR, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, SECRETARY OF STATE, ATTORNEY GENERAL AND GENERAL TREASURER and for one SENATOR and FOUR REPRESENTATIVES from this City to the General Assembly of the State for the ensuing year: AND to give in their ballots as provided by law, for the aforesaid PROPOSITIONS submitted for their approval or rejection: AND to give in their ballots, as provided by law, on the aforesaid question, "Will this City grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors?"

Said Ward Meetings, according to law, will be kept open from half past six o'clock in the morning until half past six o'clock in the evening.

Witness my hand this 25th day of October, A. D. 1909.

NEW LICENSE LAW A COMPLETE SUCCESS.

CONDITIONS NEVER BETTER IN R. I.

One year ago the voters of Rhode Island were asked to consider the question of License, and to decide by their ballots whether liquor should be sold under the legal restrictions of the new law, or whether the traffic (which experience has shown CANNOT be destroyed) should be forced to continue in evasion of the law, and with all the attendant evils which exist under prohibition.

This question was recognized as THE issue in the last campaign—it overshadowed all other local issues.

Everyone knows how it was met and decided.

Every town that had the License system voted to continue under legal regulation, and SEVEN TOWNS WHICH FOR YEARS HAD HAD AN UNRESTRICTED LIQUOR TRAFFIC UNDER NO LICENSE, DECIDED TO CONTROL THE BUSINESS AND ELIMINATE ITS UNPLEASANT FEATURES BY ADOPTING THE WISE AND JUST LICENSE SYSTEM NOW IN FORCE THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

The experiences of the past year have shown the wisdom of this decision. The License Regulation law approved by the people of Rhode Island at the last election limited the granting of Liquor Licenses to one for every 500 inhabitants and raised the license fee of the retailer almost double. The effect of this law has been to close the undesirable saloon and to leave only those in business who strictly observe the provisions of the law.

So well indeed has the new law operated that the Chairman of the Providence Police Commissioners said: "Were the Licenses to be renewed tomorrow the Board cannot think of a single man that would be refused his license."

During the past year, so far as the most painstaking investigation can ascertain, there has been

(1) No selling to minors,

(2) No violation of the night, Sunday and holiday closing laws.

The liquor business has been cleanly, honestly and wisely conducted. No complaints have been heard from any source.

THE STATE HAS GREATLY GAINED IN REVENUE UNDER THE NEW LAW.

Over half a million dollars is now collected in the State of Rhode Island from liquor licenses on account of the increased fees charged by the provisions of the new act. The schools, roads and, indeed, all the departments of public expenditure have benefited by the increased revenue, and will continue to benefit by it under a license system.

Thus, from whatever standpoint the operation of the new License Act is considered, it has proven its title to public approval. It was on trial last year; it is on trial no longer. Its merits have been demonstrated by actual experience.

Why should we experiment when we have at last found a system of controlling the liquor traffic which has shown itself to be in every way satisfactory?

A CONVINCING COMPARISON—PROVIDENCE, The Chief City of the State.

PROVIDENCE UNDER PROHIBITION Conditions in 1886.

Providence Journal, Nov. 8, 1908.

In 1886, when the prohibition amendment to our State Constitution went into effect nobody who really wanted a drink had to go without one. But the manner of getting it presented a variety of entertaining phases. Many small grocery stores were opened and stocked with about $150 worth of goods that would make a big showing. Behind these goods, which were displayed on shelves, were bottles in which liquor was kept and it was a simple matter to get a drink.

One so-called grocer kept not only bottles but kegs, and when the prohibition law was repealed the wholesale grocer bought back his goods, not a package of which had been opened.

Small places would be raided and half an hour after the raid a truck load of liquor would appear at the back door, and he would stock up again.

There were also many club rooms, and people who established them issued pass keys to their regular patrons. In the suburbs kitchen barrooms and "speakeasies" flourished. Sunday was the great day for drinking in the quiet section, and in many tenements there were some sort of bars. In 1886, under no license, there was an increase of 18 3-10 per cent in the number of cases of drunkenness over a corresponding period under license. This briefly is the story of Providence under prohibition.

TODAY---UNDER LICENSE

Mr. Luther, Chairman of the Providence Police Commission, Says:

Providence Journal, Oct. 16, 1909.

"Speaking as an individual, and not as a public official, the conditions are better than at any time during my recollection."

He further says: "The square deal and co-operation of those doing business have, in our opinion as officials, worked to the moral advantage of the city."

This is the report of the man who is in a position to know more about conditions in Providence than any other.

The citizens of Providence who have observed the conduct of the liquor traffic during the past year will endorse Mr. Luther's statement.

Our city is cleaner and better than ever before.

Why not let us continue the admirable license system that has made it so?

The experience of Providence under no license was not at all unique or unusual. No license works today in other cities just as it did in Providence from 1886 to 1889. If any further evidence beside the experience of our city were needed to show the folly of no-license, the stories of Worcester, Fall River and New Bedford would supply the evidence.

WORCESTER.

From the Worcester Evening Post.

The police records for the month of July, ending today, will show an increase of 21 per cent in general crime over the corresponding period under license. An increase in the number of arrests for drunkenness of nearly 70 per cent, liquor shipment into the city grown to such proportions that branch offices to the express companies having "push" licenses are being added almost daily.

These conditions increase the floating population in the Summer street jail, making the number housed in the house of correction greater than it has been in seven months. And among the temporary inhabitants of the jail are many women and several young men who can trace their downfall to the year of no-license—the time promised by the "reformers" when the boys were to be saved.

FALL RIVER.

Police Records Show Failure of No License.

From Providence Journal June 6, 1909.

"The figures that are daily furnished at police headquarters, alike as to the record of arrests for drunkenness and the amount of liquor delivered by express, are not such as to make glad the hearts or sweet the temper of such persons as favored the inauguration of a no license system in this community.

"Then, too, it is asserted by the police, who are familiar with conditions in the tenement districts where express wagons deliver beer by the case and keg, in homes where no such consignments were ever delivered before, that women and even children are tempted by the nearness and large quantities of intoxicants to form drinking habits.

"Since no license went into effect May 1 the arrests for drunkenness were 317, an increase of 16 per cent over a corresponding period under license."

NEW BEDFORD.

The results of New Bedford no-license experiment are essentially the same as those of Fall River and Worcester. During the past year under no-license scarcely a day has passed on which the local newspapers and police records have not reported a violation of the law. The police raids have discovered drinking places and dens of iniquity such as the city never knew under license. Arrests for drunkenness have been increasing steadily and many cases of the corruption of youths and mere boys have been so flagrant that they have been commented upon in the public press.

In short, no-license has registered another failure in all its sickening detail in New Bedford; a failure which is so pronounced, and so thoroughly understood by all citizens that there is little doubt but that at the next election Now Bedford will again adopt a license system under which she can control and regulate her liquor traffic.

WHO WANTS TO CHANGE?

Who wants to change a law that has increased the revenue of the State, that has decreased the number of arrests from intoxication, stopped the sale of intoxicants to minors, and brought about the rigid observance of the night, Sunday and holiday closing laws?

And what a change it would be to alter our present satisfactory conditions under license to those which we had in Providence in '86 under no license or to those now in Worcester, Fall River and New Bedford.

A man who considers for a moment the eminently satisfactory conditions under which the liquor business is carried on in this State, and who compares them with those which the mistaken zeal of the Prohibitionists would impose upon us under no license, needs no further argument or persuasion to induce him to

QUAKE FELT IN MANY CITIES.

Humboldt County Seemed to Be Centre of Seismic Disturbance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The earthquake shock felt in northern California and Oregon last night is reported from a number of places to have been more severe than any experienced for several years. The vibrations continued from 10 to 25 seconds, according to observers. In different towns. Windows were shattered, chimneys prostrated, dishes broken and small pieces of furniture moved, but so far as known, the financial damage was nominal.

Humboldt county appears to have been the centre of the seismic disturbance, but telegraph and telephone communication is interrupted, and meagre reports have been received. It does not appear that the shock was of great violence.

Among the cities and towns where the quake was felt are Redding, Red Bluff, Chico, McCloskey, Waverville, Dunsmuire and Crescent City, in California, and Grants Pass and Marshfield, Oregon. It was not felt in San Francisco, nor was it recorded at the local weather bureau.

SEVERE EARTH QUIVERS.

St. Ignatius College Seismographs Record Distant Vibrations.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 29.—Father Odenbach of St. Ignatius College announced today that during the night severe earth quivers were recorded by each of the three seismographs at the college. The distance from here was estimated at 2,000 to 3,000 miles, and the movement was north and south. This record would tally with the California quivers. Father Odenbach also said that there had been slight earth vibrations almost continuously during the last 24 hours.

NO RECORD IN WASHINGTON.

Weather Bureau Seismograph Shows Some "Pulsatory Oscillations."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—What the scientists at the weather bureau call some "pulsatory oscillations" of the earth were shown on the seismograph after an examination of the records of that instrument this morning. Professor Charles F. Marvin says that these oscillations are little vibrations of the ground which frequently exist for hours—a condition, however, not due to earthquake origin. They are recorded on the seismograph in this vicinity often.

If the earthquake shocks which occurred in California and Oregon last night were felt here at all there is no record of them at the weather bureau.

PAY IN ADVANCE.

[Tit-Bits.]

The young man from the country took his green necktie and his best girl into a restaurant, and, like some other young men, he was disposed to be facetious at the waiter's expense.

"Waiter," he said, "I want you to bring me a grilled crocodile."

"Yessir," replied the waiter, perfectly unmoved.

"And, waiter, bring it with butter."

"Yessir."

Then he stood there like a statue for a minute.

"Well," said the young man, "aren't you going to bring it?"

"Yessir."

"Why don't you, then?"

"Orders is, sir, that we get pay in advance for crocodiles, sir. Crocodiles with butter, sir, are 1,500 pounds and twopence. If you take it without butter, sir, it is only 1,500 pounds, sir."

The waiter did not smile, but the girl did, and the young man climbed down.

TREE RID THE TOWN.

[San Francisco Call.]

Although Booneville, in Mendocino County, is on the map, it does not occupy a large stretch of territory, as was discovered recently by two San Franciscans who were taking a horseback journey through the northern counties. They stopped to fish two or three miles this side of Booneville, and as night approached it was decided that one should ride ahead and purchase some provisions. The one who had been left behind fished for half an hour longer, then rode on to overtake his companion. He had gone for some distance when he saw a watering trough partly obscured by a roadside tree. He turned in to give this steed refreshment, and discovered, still further hidden by the tree, a small general store, across the front of which was the word "Booneville." Dismounting he asked if his companion had been there and was informed that he was the only one who had been at the store all afternoon. He was told, though, that a horse had been heard passing half an hour before. Mounting once more, he spurred along and after a hard gallop overtook his companion. "You are a bright one," he said, "to go right past a town and never see it." The other would not believe that he had been so blind until he had been taken back and shown Booneville. "Well," he exclaimed, "how could you expect me to see the cottonwood down when there was a tree in front of it?"

MISSISSIPPI TRIP MAKES FOR GOOD.

the appropriations bills and ramming them, a very large amount. It is a large amount, but it is not a large amount for the United States to pay to develop a waterway which is as important as the Mississippi. And yet we are governed by all the people, and we must pursue the ordinary cours of convincing them in order to bring this about."

The President said that one of the objects of the trip down the river had been to ascertain the Speaker's attitude; "but so far," said the President, "he has been able to cloud what he really thinks in the language of that Oriental literature which carries him off in a blaze of glory without a full committal. All I have to say in the presence of the distinguished statesman is that he heretofore has endorsed all I have said, with certain Scriptural qualifications, and I am willing to endorse all that 'Uncle Joe' says if I may be permitted to search through Cruden's Concordance and get a few Scriptural quotations."

Eight of the other vessels of the waterways fleet were in sight when the Oleander pointed her nose into the bank at Natchez this morning. This was due to the fact that the Oleander, which shook off all the other boats yesterday in the run to Vicksburg, and caused the governors and Congressmen temporarily to desert their steamers for a special train, encountered difficulty last night, and could not make her usual speed. One of the regular firemen had to be put ashore at Memphis on account of illness, and a green hand at the fires succeeded in choking them.

Another reason for the long delay in reaching Vicksburg after the Oleander last night crowded into the harbor canal, in direct violation of the orders, and blocked the exit of the President. The Oleander had to lie to for an hour and a half after casting off from the shore. Every pilot or master blamed the other for the choked condition of the harbor, and it required a great deal of taot to straighten things out.

Once out of Wicksburg harbor another incident occurred which is likely to cause trouble to some of the rivermen. The Erastus Wells won second place in the line yesterday in the free-for-all run from Helena to Vicksburg. Steamer Alton, which is declared to be faster than the Wells, tried to push into second place as the Oleander was leaving last night, and for a minute or more there was an exciting and dangerous scene, suggestive of the old days on the Mississippi. Great clouds of curling black smoke poured from the tall stacks set athwartships on the two boats, and occasional flashes of flame burst from the black clouds. The masters were trying to push each other out of line as they rushed along. The race continued until the two racers were almost at the stern wheel of the Oleander. As they came within hailing distance Commander Tillman, admiral of the fleet, called some orders through a megaphone which set things straight. He directed the Alton to drop astern of the Wells, and the race was over. Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor, under whose direction the steamboat service is, was on the top deck of the Oleander, watching the midnight race.

Just what time the Oleander will reach New Orleans tomorrow is not known. She will make but one more stop on the way—at Baton Rouge tonight—but as the boilers are working badly she will not be able to maintain her average speed. The idea of waiting outside New Orleans for the straggling members of the fleet has been abandoned, and the Oleander will enter the city just as soon as she reaches there. It is hoped that this will be by noon, at the latest.

President Taft was greeted here by Mayor Benbrook and a reception committee. The mayor made a brief address of welcome, and the President made a happy response.

Leaving the steamer, the President and army of the governors who arrived on steamer St. Paul were taken for an automobile drive through the city, the ride ending at a court of honor on the Bluff, where the President made a brief address.

President Taft and his personal party left this city on the Oleander at noon, three hours behind schedule. Baton Rouge will hardly be reached before 10 o'clock tonight.

Torpedo Boat Wilkes Floated, and with Rest of Flotilla Proceeds.

NATCHEZ, Miss., Oct. 29.—Torpedo boat Wilkes, which ran aground 25 miles below Vicksburg yesterday, was floated late last night. The Wilkes, with the remainder of the flotilla, coaled in the local harbor today, and at 8:50 o'clock the entire flotilla moved out of the harbor and continued their journey to New Orleans. The boats will proceed without waiting for the Presidential fleet.

A'HEARN ILLEGALLY ELECTED.

Court of Appeals Divided in Decision Against Manhattan President.

ALBANY, Oct. 29.—John E. A'Hearn was illegally elected to the office of president of the borough of Manhattan, New York city, by the board of aldermen, after he had been removed from office by Governor Hughes upon charges, according to a decision today in the court of appeals.

Governor Hughes found A'Hearn guilty of charges of misconduct in office. Following his removal the board of aldermen re-elected him for the term for which he had been originally elected. Quo warranto proceedings were begun by the attorney general to oust A'Hearn from office. Supreme Court Justice McCall decided in favor of the borough president, but the appellate division reversed Justice McCall's decision, and is sustained by the court of appeals. President A'Hearn's term will expire December 31, next.

The court of appeals was divided in its decision. Judges Hiscock, Edward T. Bartlett and Gray wrote opinions affirming the order of the appellate division, and Judge Worner concurred with them. Judge Cullen wrote the dissenting opinion, and is concurred in by Judge Chase. Judge Willard Bartlett did not sit.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. Wall Street—The stock market opened strong, with Amalgamated Copper at 84¾ to 86, American Car & Foundry 71½, American Smelting 98, American Locomotive 60, Anaconda 48¾, Atchison 122¾, Brooklyn Transit 76½, Canadian Pacific 184¾, Erie 33½, Great Northern preferred 143½, Missouri, Kansas & Texas 48⅝, Missouri Pacific 69¾, National Lead 89¼, New York Central 134⅛, Northern Pacific 147½, Pennsylvania 118¾, Reading 162½, Rock Island 28¾, St. Paul 157¾, Sugar 128¾, Southern Pacific 128⅜, Southern Railway 30⅝, Union Pacific 200¾, United States Steel 128 and Wabash preferred 52.

10—The stock market opened active and higher, with running sales of 6,000 shares of United States Steel and 3,700 shares of Amalgamated Copper as the features. The former stock sold at 90 to 90¾, compared with 89⅝ yesterday. Reading rose 2. Consolidated Gas 1½. American Locomotive 1¼. Northern Pacific, American Can, Anaconda and American Hide & Leather preferred 1, and Union Pacific, Southern Railway preferred, Wabash preferred, American Smelting and a number of others large fractions.

11—Very few of the active stocks failed to respond to the large buying for both accounts that went on during the first hour's business. Gains of a point and over were numerous with the metal, car equipment and standard railroad groups making the best showing.

Noon—Money on call, steady, at 4 per cent; prime mercantile paper, 5 to 5½ per cent. Prices made further advances, but the demand slackened as the rise proceeded. United States Steel touched 91. Bonds were firm.

THE THREE AMENDMENTS.

Their Ratification Would Place Rhode Island in Line With Other States.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

Sir: The electors in their sovereign capacity will have an opportunity to perfect the constitution of Rhode Island, by ratifying next Tuesday the three amendments proposed to them. It will mean that Rhode Island has joined hands with the other advanced states of the Union, by conforming her civil government to the American system, as laid down by his framers, which every student of government is well acquainted with. The framers of government intended, first, that the executive should have the veto, as an instrument to protect the people from hasty and ill-advised legislation; second, that representatives should be apportioned by districts, each district to contain an equal number of population, and to be contiguous in territory as near as possible.

By making the lieutenant governor the presiding officer of the senate the amendments embrace a wide scope, in separating the powers of government, as was contemplated by the constitution makers. The great constitutional check upon the legislature in the veto. Equally, also, has the legislature a check upon the executive of a state in the power of impeachment. The amendments are so constructive in their framing that, if ratified by the electors, they will be an instrument to perfect the great American system of constitutional government. What is needed is representatives elected to conduct governmental affairs who will be the strong defenders of popular rights.

The people of the state, imbued as they are with the spirit of liberty, are marshalling themselves with the ultimate object of enjoying self government. The beginning of a new era is bound to awaken the people to their needs in commerce and open the pathway for industries, of which the state offers such a brilliant prospect. With a vigorous governor in possession of the veto power as an instrument, he will be able to exercise it when necessary for the public welfare. The great constitutional principle prominent in the plan of government is the intimacy of communication between the executive and the legislature. Therefore it is the more imperative that representatives of the people should be brought into closer contact from a popular standpoint, and instead of public distrust this would gain their approval. The executive and legislative powers are co-extensive with the objects to be attained.

The interest manifested as to what will be the fate of the amendments is engaging the attention of the press in other states. The electors no doubt will give these amendments their support, because their adoption will be a civic advancement to the pride and glory, of the state. The legislature is the supreme power in directing the political policies of the state. Upon its attitude lies the responsibility as to whether the state will be progressive in its industrial and commercial pursuits, or whether it will retrograde.

The apportioning of the state into districts will not deprive ony of the towns of their former constitutional status. On the other hand it will swing the pendulum nearer the orbits of equality between the towns and cities. Some of the electors feel anxious lest the state may be gerrymandered for partisan and political purposes. Such an attempt, in my judgment, would not be tolerated by the courts or the people.

Rhode Island has a history to be proud of, in furnishing her quota of constructive men in war, as in peace. Her achievement stand as a landmark in the life of the nation. Her pride and proud citizenship have always been strong defenders of constitutionalism within the letter and spirit, which is her strongest hope.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DURNAN.

The funeral of Mrs. Michael Durnan took place this morning from her residence on Potter street to St Mary's Church, where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. William B. Meenan, assisted by Rev. Father Raddy as deacon and Rev. Father Tierney as sub-deacon. There was a large attendance at the service and many floral tributes. The bearers were Michael E. Fitzgerald, Michael Brennan, Dennis McMahon, Hugh Ebbitt, William J. Ebbitt and James Ebbitt.

IN HONOR OF BRIDE AND GROOM.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. John Walsh entertained a large party at their home on Thames street in honor of their daughter, Mrs. James Dawley and her husband, who recently returned from their wedding trip. The parlor where the reception was held was decorated with palms and potted plants. There was vocal and instrumental music, and recitations, piano selections, being given by Miss Anna Walsh and Miss Harrington. Games and dancing were also had, and at midnight supper was served, the table decorations consisting of carnations. At its conclusion a cotillion was danced, led by Mr. Arthur Leary and Miss Mayme Roche, the favors being Hallowe'en novelties. Miss M. Walsh Miss Allen and Miss McDonald assisted in receiving and entertaining the guests.

EWING—HONEYWELL.

Cards announced the marriage, Wednesday evening, at the residence of the bride's mother on Clinton avenue, of Miss Ethel Fouse Honeywell and Mr. Walter Henry Ewing of Newark, N. J. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. H. Porter, D. D., and was attended only by a few friends. The newly wedded pair are now on their honeymoon and will later reside in Newark, N. J. This was a sort of a family wedding, in that the bride is a sister of Mrs T. R. Maul and the groom a cousin of Mr. Maul.

ONLY ROUTINE BUSINESS.

Aldermen Call Meeting of Representative Council to Hear Tax Assessors' Report.

The Board of Aldermen held its weekly session Thursday evening, Mayor Boyle presiding and all the members being present.

The weekly pay rolls were approved for the following sums: Streets and highways, $1,490.67; police, $805.42; fire department, $430.48; city officers, $179.25; public buildings, $11.54; firemen in theatres, $34.

The following monthly pay rolls were approved: Police, $150; Police Relief Association, $314.90; fire department, $141.67; city officers, $1,677.09; Rev. B. H. Rosengard, $100.

The quarterly report of City Treasurer Taylor showed a balance on hand October 2 of $204,662.95, which seemed acceptable.

Petitions for remission of personal property taxes were received from the following veterans and were referred to the assessors of taxes: William F. H. Barlow, C. H. Peckham, W. S. Bailey, H. O. Hammond, W. B. West, C. H. Clarke.

A petition from Joseph Schoelman of Fall River, for a peddler's license, was laid on the table. He was reported to have a state license, but that made no difference the board some time since voted to investigate applicants for licenses who claim to have state licenses.

The Algonkin Club was granted a license for a shooting gallery, without a fee, as it is a church club and not a public gallery.

Mr. Shepley moved that a Welsbach light be placed on Wesley street and it was so voted, after the city clerk had stated that the appropriation was nearly equalled by the extra lights voted.

Mr. Mahoney reported that the light recently ordered for Corne street was in place.

Mr. Kelly reported that residents on Ochre Point and the Neck had called his attention to the condition of Hazard avenue. For years Mrs. John Carter Brown maintained a light, at her expense, about midway on the street. Since her death this has been discontinued and it is missed. It was suggested that the matter be referred to him, for a report, at the next meeting. Mr. Mahoney said that was election night and a holiday and seemed surprised at the board meeting that night, but as the board has met regularly on that night for years no one else was surprised. Mr. Shepley suggested that the matter of money be first investigated. Mr. Kelly said he could report on that light at once. It is needed. He was appointed a committee to have one installed if there is a balance.

Mr. Shepley asked if any report had been received from the commissioners on Bateman avenue and was told that none had.

The city clerk stated that the tax assessors had reported that they were ready to report to the Representative Council in regard to the proposed card system and new books. They said that if the Council wished to have the card system in use next year immediate action would need to be taken to have the work done in time. The only way to call the Council together was for the board to do it. The board voted to call the Council to meet for this purpose Monday, November 8.

There being no further business, the board at 8:10 adjourned.

It seemed not quite the proper thing for the Board of Aldermen to decide about calling the Representative Council together to hear the report of the tax assessors, but under the present arrangement this was apparently the only thing to be done. The Council evidently wishes to have the card system installed by the tax assessors, and the latter have ascertained the cost and notified the city clerk that they are ready to report on the matter. In the opinion of the assessors, if the new plan is to be put in operation before the time for the assessment of the tax for next year, a start cannot be made too soon, and for that reason if the Council intends to have the work done a special meeting should be called at once. This has been done. The way of doing it seems rather out of place, but it was the only way of bringing the Council together.

There was a feeling at the last meeting of the Council that no other meeting would be necessary before the very end of the year, but that idea did not exactly work out. This meeting will be held in the regular Council chamber of the City Hall, which is again in condition for use, though the old acoustic principles, or lack of principles, are still in effect.

ANNUAL SESSION IN PROVIDENCE

Mrs. E. H. Porter Elected a Vice President of Woman's Auxiliary of Diocese of Rhode Island.

Representatives of most of the Protestant Episcopal parishes of the state met at Grace Church, Providence, Thursday for the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the diocese of Rhode Island. The auditorium of the church was nearly filled with the delegates and clergymen of the diocese.

The session opened with the celebration of Holy Communion, followed by addresses by Bishop McVickar, Rev. A. A. Gilman of Chang-Sha, China; Rev. Albert A. Massey of Boerne, Texas, and Rev. Hugh L. Burleson, assistant secretary at the Church Mission House, New York.

The afternoon session was devoted largely to the reading of reports, which showed the auxiliary to be in good condition in every way. The secretary's report showed that several large bequests had been made this year. She also referred to the deaths of Mrs. Henry G. Russell, Mrs. John Carter Brown and Miss Mary Pitman. Miss McVickar addressed the members on the necessity of continuing the work and the need of funds to carry it out.

The annual election of officers followed, Miss McVickar being re-elected president. Mrs. E. H. Porter of this city was elected one of the vice presidents.

MIDDLETOWN.

Rev. Charles Hardon Gives Talk on Taxation at Matrons' Night at the Grange.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

Thursday evening was Matrons' night at the regular meeting of Aquidneck Grange at the Town Hall, and the following married women occupied the officers' chairs: Worthy master, Mrs. Edward J. Peckham; overseer, Mrs. E. Marion Peckham; lecturer, Mrs. Albert C. Young; steward, Mrs. W. Clarence Peckham; assistant steward, Mrs. E. A. Peckham; chaplain, Mrs. E. C. Peckham; secretary, Mrs. William C. Hubbell; lady assistant steward, Mrs. William M. Hughes.

A communication was received from Professor A. E. Stene, superintendent of college extension in agriculture at Kingston College, offering the Grange the use of the college traveling library, which includes books relating largely to various lines of agriculture. It has been loaned among Granges for as long a period as desired and comes to Aquidneck from Laurel Grange, North Scituate. The college is willing to supply a second library if the demand for the circulation is sufficient, and it is desired to keep it moving.

A letter was read from Marshall T. Reynolds, secretary of Laurel Grange, regarding the part irrigation is taking in the production of unusually large crops in northwest Canada. Mr. Reynolds is interested in the colonization department of this section, where there is an irrigation plant of 3,000,000 acres in southern Alberta. The letter related especially to the potato crop and reported a yield of 55 bushels to an acre from 150 acres, realizing $14,000 last year.

At the close of the business session Rev. Charles Hardon was introduced and gave an interesting talk on "Taxation." Mr. Hardon is a retired clergyman, formerly stationed at Concord, N. H., and for many recent years a prominent Granger at Contocook, N. H. At present he is traveling as a sort of missionary in the interest of the equalization of taxation, and in arousing interest in a more just system of revenue. He was asked in presenting his subject by two large charts. The first gave the "natural resources" which he presented as the proper channel through which revenue should accrue, and the second the "products of labor" which should be exempt from taxation. Discussion followed and was continued throughout the evening. Mr. Hardon has given his talk before many Granges and other organizations and left this morning for Providence, to speak before a labor union tonight. While in Middletown he was guest of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hughes.

At the conclusion of the lecture Mr. Lewis R. Manchester served one of his quahaug chowders. Among the guests of the evening were Mr. George Howland, overseer of Conanicut Grange, Jamestown, and deputy for Newport county, and Mrs. C. Louise Perry of Boston, a former secretary for many years and a charter member of Aquidneck Grange.

Mrs. C. E. Delamater entertained the Women's Foreign Missionary Society at its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at the Methodist parsonage. The opening chapter in the study of South America was taken up, mainly through several prepared papers, as follows: "Its Resources and Commerce," by Mrs. Isaac Peabody; "General Condition of the People," by the president, Miss Sarah Ward, and "Panama Canal," by Mrs. Elma M. Peckham; the papers being followed by a general discussion.

The frosts have been so light and so late in coming that many of the trees have lost their leaves without their usual handsome coloring.

The members of the Methodist Episcopal Church are preparing for two special days in November—Rally Sunday, and the usual harvest festival. Aquidneck Grange is also preparing for a harvest festival.
